A Brief Insight into Midas the Monkey and Class 2A

Assalamu aleikum, and welcome to our stories with Midas, our class mascot monkey (he's really a sloth but thinks of himself as a monkey!), who accompanied every student from class 2A home during 2022.

Midas befriended every student to encourage them at first to think of an exciting adjective when they thought of him. I have included these adjectives on the next page.

This worked so well that Midas decided to go home with every student and help them write about their experience with him during their sleep overs. Midas 'informed' me that he behaved very well and I actually believed him at first, until the students started telling us their stories....

Here is what actually happened !

The Story of Midas and Adhara Adam

I was walking back home with my family and Midas. When we reached home I put Midas on the couch and I went to hang my clothes upstairs. After that, my Dad came home and we all gathered downstairs and watched Moana together.

On Saturday I asked Midas if he wanted to go downstairs but he didn't answer which could only mean one thing, he was sleeping, so I went downstairs and Midas slept the whole day.

him then he was kind of clinging to me. He showed me how to do a backflip and we played together until Dad came home with KFC, obviously he ran first to get it and finished his!

When I got home Midas and I changed our clothes. After that we ate our lunch and watched TV. After, we did some homework and we had a snack.

Midas didn't slap anyone so it was good. On Saturday, we went to the dentist, and Midas went too. After that we went to Woolworths and we didn't get anything because they ran out of what we wanted to buy. Sunday morning after we brushed our teeth, we played until breakfast was ready. Then we watched some TV and then we did my homework, it was ALOT OF HOMEWORK!!!. We didn't go anywhere on Sunday.

Then I had nutella, one hour later I went to my bed and Midas was eating all the stacks of my lollies and chocolate.
